

Tales of The Chronologically Gifted

Adventures, Tales, and Delights of the Sheep and Shepherd

We are doing FUN things. We again had a grand and rich experience without flying or driving great distances and without spending any money. Sheep and Shepherd Ministry is about providing fellowship, fun, food, and educational opportunities for our older church members in pleasing and sometimes expansive environments.

Eat Your Hearts Out – Anderson, South Carolina

No driving, walking, hiking, or heavy lifting was required for this international dinner. The only lifting required was a crystal goblet of one's favorite beverage or a sterling fork. Thirteen of us gathered on Saturday, May 16th at Craig Johnson's house for an epic eleven course meal. No one was in a hurry and we managed to spread the meal over a bit more than four hours. The rains even stopped and some enjoyed al fresco dining on the deck.

The Bill of Fare

Starters

Hot Sausage cheese dip with corn chips
Chianti 2007

Salad Courses

Caesar Romaine lettuce, avocado, tomato, cheese
European potato salad with sausage
Spinach salad with mandarin orange, cranberries, nuts
Strawberry gelatin salad
Vidalia cheese hot bread
Chilled Chablis

Main Course

Johnny Martizi Casserole
Asian Vegetables with shrimp
Cabernet Sauvignon

Desserts

Pink Lemonade Pie with Oreos
Apple Cake drizzled with Gran Marnier
Sweet Potato Pie

Liqueurs

Anarette
Gran Marnier

I got to stay up until midnight washing every plate and glass in the house. Everyone in the church should no now that one of my mantras is "A real meal deserves a real plate." I always eat on china at church and everyone that comes to my house gets crystal and silver and cloth napkins. You are worth it!!

Everyone brought art objects, souvenirs, books, and photos from their favorite countries to share. Alas, we never got to do that as the meal proved gargantuan and with everyone fully bloated, no one felt like waxing eloquent about the artistic and cultural merits of a far-flung land. We will have to have a second session with a bit less food and drink or do the show and tell first.

If you didn't show up, don't blame me if you are still hungry.

Next: Georgia Aquarium, Atlanta, Tuesday May 26th

Blessings, Craig Johnson